Soo Locks Children's Museum

Emerging through a grass-roots effort to address the needs of children and families in the region, this museum is on a path to open in the heart of historic downtown Sault Ste Marie.

Selected to plan, design, and produce the interactive exhibits that will make this museum come alive, the team of Bluewater Studio and Kraemer Design + Production is working with the Board and community advisors to envision what the museum will be like and how children and their families and caregivers will interact with the space.

"We were all thoroughly impressed with how the meetings were structured, the timeliness of the sketches, themes, details, creative use of the building - and the design sketches themselves blew us out of the water! We all agreed that you are an exceptional team to work with."
