An Inspiring Renovation

Neville Public Museum Generations Gallery

The 8,000 square foot Generations Gallery encourages visitors to encounter Northeast Wisconsin's cultural, social, and human history in new and engaging ways.

With an existing concept design as a starting point, Bluewater worked with the Museum and Brown County - initiating new ideas, creative alternatives, and innovative possibilities and approaches - aligning the museum's vision with available resources.

Designed with flexibility in mind to accommodate future changes and additions, the renovation and upgrades make the gallery more imaginative, experiential, and participatory with enhanced accessibility and simpler navigation.
